

CONCANNON

Concannon State Fishing Lake and Wildlife Area is located on the north side of Highway 156, approximately 17 miles northeast of Garden City. Approximately 410 acres of grassland, 300 acres of cropland, a 50-acre lake, and a 40-acre marsh comprise the area, and offers a large variety of recreational opportunities to the visitor. Primitive camping is permitted, and restroom and boat ramp facilities are available. The proximity of Concannon to Garden City lends the area well to day-use activities such as bird watching, photography, hiking, fishing, hunting, and picnicking. A no trash policy is in effect, so be sure to take home the trash you create.

FISHING

The murky water conditions and extreme water-level fluctuations restrict the fishery of the lake to the stocking of channel catfish. Management plans include the revitalization of the fishery as water levels and other conditions permit. It is possible that the lake fishery will eventually include channel catfish, sunfish, and black bass.

WILDLIFE

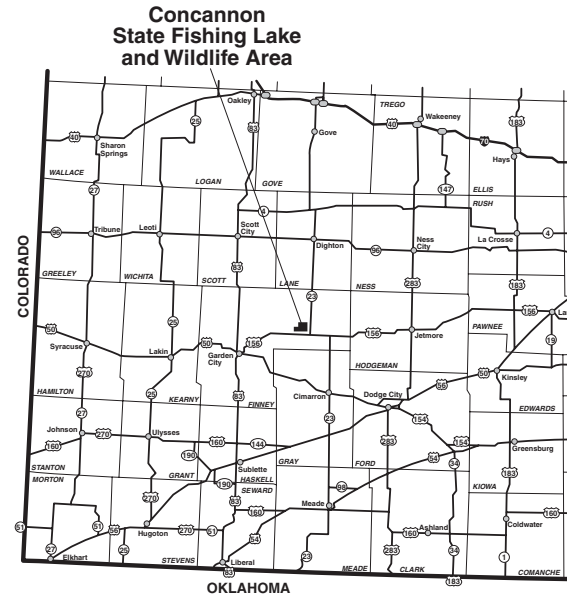

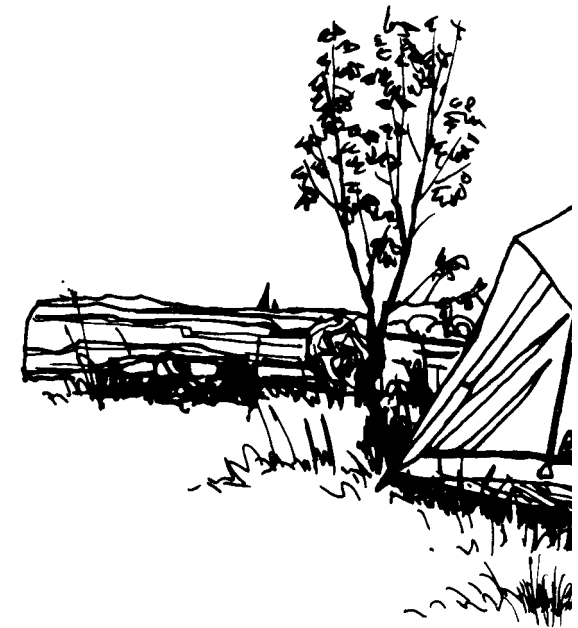

The area offers a wide variety of opportunities to enjoy wildlife. Hunting, bird watching, and outdoor photography are just a few of the permitted activities. The large marshy area, in conjunction with the lake, provides a wonderful place to observe ducks, geese, herons, and shorebirds. Other species include ring-necked pheasant, bobwhite quail, white-tailed deer, numerous species of waterfowl, furbearers, and non-game animals.

THINGS TO REMEMBER

Visitors are reminded that all regulations pertaining to state fishing lakes are in effect for this area. Drive maintained roads only and avoid all littering. Additional information concerning Concannon Lake and Wildlife Area is posted on the area.
